

Update on Work Arrangements

Dear colleagues,

Please be advised that the flexible work arrangements will be extended to 20 April 2022 (inclusive). Deans and Heads are advised to make work arrangement for their colleagues based on their office's needs and the instruction from the Interim Provost or respective Vice-President to ensure that essential and basic services are maintained to support the continuous operation and ongoing teaching and research in the University.

For the time being, as Hong Kong sees the highest number of confirmed cases in the recent week, staff members are requested to work from home as far as possible until further notice.

The University shall update the work arrangements as the pandemic evolves.

Please stay safe and healthy.
